Fascial Manipulation

Date: Sunday, January 19, 2014
8:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Fascial Movement Taping Level 1 Cert.

Reasons to Attend Fascial Manipulation

- This workshop will explain that fascia is a sensory organ and if it is dysfunctional, muscles and nerves are affected and incoordination will occur.

- Learn how past injuries, or surgeries causing fascial restrictions may be responsible for compensations responsible for chronic complaints often distal from the original trauma

About the Speaker: Warren Hammer, MS, DC, DABCO

Two years ago Dr. Warren Hammer, MS, DC, DABCO introduced Fascial Manipulation into the United States with Stefano Casadei, PT and Antonio Stecco, MD. FM has been taught in Europe for the past 16 years and now currently is taught on every continent. He has lectured nationally and internationally and recently completed his third edition of the textbook Functional Soft-Tissue Examination and Treatment by Manual Methods.

Reasons to Attend Fascial Movement Taping Level 1 Certification

- Introduce the concept of a longitudinal muscle chain approach to the elastic therapeutic taping (Fascial Movement Taping).

- Understand the physiological effects of kinesiology taping.

- Master functional taping and understand its role and use for the applications of rehabilitation, edema management, neuropathic pain, scar mobility and posture improvement. Corrective exercise strategies for movement mobility and stability dysfunctions will be integrated with taping protocols.

About the Speaker: Timothy Stark, MPhil, DC

Dr. Timothy Stark graduated from North Dakota State University with a bachelor's degree in corporate and community fitness, with a minor in biology. Then he graduated as a DC and continued on to complete his residency/fellowship in sports chiropractic and rehabilitation at NWHSU. He was selected by the International Sports Chiropractic Federation to participate as a sports chiropractic physician for the Atlanta, Sydney, and Salt Lake City Olympic Games.
